

HARVARD
MEDICAL SCHOOL

BRIGHAM AND
WOMEN'S HOSPITAL

HARVARD T.H. CHAN
SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH

THE GLOBAL HEALTH DELIVERY INTENSIVE

To be held virtually July 6-22, 2022

APPLICATIONS NOW AVAILABLE THROUGH SOPHAS EXPRESS!

The Global Health Delivery Intensive (GHDI) is a rigorous, non-degree summer program that trains public health leaders and health practitioners, enabling them to effectively design and manage programs that improve health outcomes for the populations they serve.

The program is co-sponsored by the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health and Harvard Medical School, under the direction of Harvard faculty on the staff of Brigham and Women's Hospital.

SINCE 2009, GHDI HAS TRAINED 550+ LEADERS FROM 60+ COUNTRIES

Alumni have served in ministries of health, NGOs, teaching hospitals, etc.

Applicants have a demonstrated commitment to global health and experience in global health organizations, with a substantial background in health care or a related field.

International candidates are encouraged to apply.

Course offerings:

- Introduction to Global Health Care Delivery
- Epidemiologic Methods for Global Health
- Management Practices in Health Care Delivery

Key dates:

August 18: Applications open on SOPHAS Express

January 15: Priority deadline for applications

February 1: Final application deadline

July 5: Orientation and check-in

July 6: Classes begin

July 22: Classes end

For more information about the program and upcoming deadlines, visit <https://www.globalhealthdelivery.org/ghdi>

For additional questions you can reach us over email at ghdi@globalhealthdelivery.org